Shame on whoever at NOAA threw the National Weather Service under the bus over this ridiculous Alabama fake news from Trump.

I was watching "Fahrenheit 451" when the news of NOAA's shameful act was broadcast. Talk about trying to hide knowledge and truth from the masses. Yes, NOAA, you have now slipped into an Orwellian abyss.

I do hope you correct the statement that was hopefully issued by a single, unauthorized person. And NOAA, you should apologize to NWS, or you are complicit in enabling a lying administration that is abusing our country's power in order to turn us into an autocratic state ruled over by a spoiled baby dictator.

Very sincerely and a true American patriot,
Janell Ross

Dear Dr. Jacobs:

I sincerely hope that you did not issue that false statement to back up Trump's false statement about Alabama hurricane weather.

Whoever issued that statement erodes our faith in NOAA and the American way of life, which depends on truth and honesty in its government offices.

Anyone can see that Trump's statement has been proven to be untrue by the factual timelines presented on both the weather forecasts and Trump's statements.. His statements are therefore "fake news" and are based on old information.

Please issue a corrected statement that represents NOAA and not someone's partisan opinion or desire to please Trump.

Thank you.

Most sincerely,
Janell Ross
